

Policy Regarding Jewelry and Release of Fallsgrove Endoscopy Center

I, _____ (“Patient”), have been informed and am aware that I must remove all jewelry, including but not limited to rings, earrings, necklaces, piercings, bracelets, and watches (“Jewelry”), prior to performance of my surgery or procedure at Fallsgrove Endoscopy Center (the “Center”). In the event that I fail to remove my Jewelry, the physician(s) and/or other medical staff involved in such surgery or procedure may have to remove my Jewelry by whatever means is necessary, including but not limited to, cutting the Jewelry or otherwise damaging the Jewelry beyond repair. I acknowledge and agree that failure to remove my Jewelry may result in permanent damage to my Jewelry or injury to me.

Patient (and his or her family members, guardians, estate, attorneys or anyone claiming rights on behalf of the Patient) (hereinafter the “Patient Parties”), hereby release and absolutely and forever discharge the Center (and all of its respective members, officers, employees, managers, agents, successors, assigns, executors, legatees, devisees, predecessors in interest, successors in interest and attorneys) (hereinafter the “Center Parties”) from all claims, rights, demands, representations, expenses, attorneys’ fees, costs and causes of action of every kind and nature whether known or unknown, anticipated or unanticipated, suspected or unsuspected, whether at law or in equity, which the Patient Parties may have or claim to have against the Center Parties related to the Patient’s Jewelry, removal of, or failure to remove, such Jewelry during any surgery or procedure, or injury to the Patient resulting from the removal of such Jewelry.
